

Patents and Their Inventors

A patent is an official document given to an inventor by a government. This document generally gives inventors the right to stop anyone else from copying, using, distributing or selling the invention without their permission.

Year	Date	Surname	Given Names	Abode	Occupation	Description of Invention and Notes
1716	08-Nov	Holland	Thomas	Amesbury	Clerk	New-invented engine for raising a continual flux of water with two barrells, only in much greater quantity, with more ease and certainty, by locks and chain works, than by any other engine hitherto invented.