

Death of Wilts Brigadier

The death took place on Wednesday night at Biddestone, near Chippenham, of Brigadier Charles Ronald Brownlow Carrington, D.S.O.; O.B.E. He was 68. Educated at Eton and joined the R.A. in the early days of the South African war, he was later a subaltern in the H. A. and a Captain in the famous K Battery, serving in the retreats from Mons, the first battle of Ypres and throughout the war as a regimental officer and Brigade Major to Divisional Artillery

Western Daily Press and Bristol Mirror, Friday, 24 December 1948