

The Guardians' Dinner

According to annual custom, the guardians of the Wilton Union dined together at the close of their official year, at the Pembroke Arms Hotel, on Thursday, their chaplain, clerk, and medical officers joining them by special invitation. Mr. Motton provided a sumptuous repast in his usual good style on the occasion, of which a numerous party partook. After the cloth was cleared, toasts, speeches, and songs followed, and a pleasant evening was spent.
