Charlcott, Bremhill
1800-1849

1830

Between the hours of seven and eight o'clock on Sunday evening, as Mr John Jenner of Charlcot, near Bremhill, Wilts, was passing through Bowood Park, the residence of the Marquis of Lansdowne, he was attacked by two footpads armed with a gun and a bludgeon; one of whom seized Mr. Jenner by the collar whilst the other rifled his pocket of 9 sovereigns with which they decamped. Devizes and Wiltshire Gazette Thursday 23 December 1830

1831

During the night of Sunday last, some malicious wretch destroyed a quantity of fruit trees in the garden of Mr William Salter of Charlcott, near Bremhill, Wilts, (the overseer of that place), and also drove his cattle among the growing crops, thereby causing considerable mischief. Hampshire Advertiser Saturday 7 July 1832
