EDITORIAL

The last few weeks have been eventful in some terrible ways. The Westminster Bridge attack, the Manchester atrocity, the London Bridge and Borough Market outrage and now the awful fire in a tower block in North Kensington.

As individuals, we feel a sense of helplessness when faced such events and makes me guilty that one is untouched and can do so little. If there is a positive outcome from these events, it has shown that we are resilient and our emergency services are first class, despite all the talk of cuts and the well publicised errors that occur from time to time.

You will have your own ideas about why the world is in such turmoil but it seems to me that Society needs to think carefully about how we act, always considering the long term consequences. History may give us clue as why and we need to learn those lessons.

Perhaps not so terrible, the population has spoken and concentrated the minds of our politicians and ourselves. You will have your own views about that! These recent events touch us all in many ways but largely do not affect our rural way of life, unless you are personally involved.

You will see that there so many events over the next month which we can enjoy and support local causes. Do attend as many of them as you can, regardless where they are.

David Stevens

Please send your contributions to the Newsletter editor@bremhill.com by the 13th of each month. We welcome all articles, large or small. The editors do reserve the right to adjust your contribution for reasons of space or extreme content! Many thanks.

FOXHAM HORSE SHOW 2017

Plans are now well underway for this year's Foxham Show which will take place on Saturday September 16th. The show is packed with lots of activity to ensure a great family day out. The Horse Show will have jumping, showing, dressage and gymkhana events. The fun dog show is full of classes for young dogs, adult dogs and veterans and of course the ever popular dog agility.

Hopefully your plants and vegetables are growing nicely ready for the Produce show, and don't forget the craft, cookery and photography classes. We have many different trade stands booked, and with all day refreshments, BBQ and for the afternoon the bar, spending the day with us promises to be great fun. We are joined this year by the Shetland pony grand national, Wiltshire fire brigade who will be bringing a fire engine to look at and also Wiltshire police rural crimes unit to chat about their work, both of these of course are subject to not being required for an emergency.

This year the show celebrates it's 30th anniversary. For a village show to remain at full strength for this length of time is fantastic and would not be possible without the fabulous support of volunteers, land owners, helpers, judges, competitors and of course visitors. To celebrate this achievement we are collating the show's history. If you have photos, anecdotes, facts, memories or news you could share about the show we would love to hear from you. We are building pages on our website. If you have info to share please contact me and hopefully we can include your contribution.

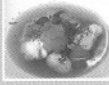

Finally this year's show as ever is always keen to see more helpers and volunteers if you can spare some time the week before the show or on the day itself, we would be delighted to hear from you. You can contact me at hello@foxhamhorseshow.com, or ring me 07831100440.

GARDEN NOTES FOR JULY

Keep tubs and new plants watered. Dead head bedding plants to ensure continual flowering. Dead head roses. Keep an eye on disease, ie mildew and blackspot. Use appropriate treatment.

Plant autumn Crocus, Amaryllis and Nerine bulbs. Divide clumps of Bearded Iris. Cut back Delphiniums and Geraniums after the first flush of flowers is over to encourage a second flowering period. Feed after cutting back.

Propagate pinks for next year's plants. Check Lillies for Lilly Beetle attack.

Pick Courgettes regularly. Many potatoes are ready to dig and enjoy. Also Summer Gooseberries, Red and White Currants. Water tomatoes regularly and feed. Look out for Blight on both tomatoes and potatoes.

Hoe off weeds in dry weather. Tie in climbing veg. Sow autumn salad crops, Spring Cabbage, Carrots and the last sowings of French and Runner Beans for late a crop.

Keep water for the birds and Hedgehogs! Too much to do and not enough time to do it!

WELL BEING FOR EVERY BODY

Surveys suggest that those who exercise regularly are just as busy with their jobs, families and other responsibilities as those who don't. So, I will continue sharing advice on how to sneak fitness into your super busy schedule.

Schedule an appointment. Working out is actually as important as going to the doctor or any other obligation that you prioritize, because you have an obligation to your body and health. So whether it's scheduling 15 minutes or an hour for some exercise, write it in pen in your calendar and treat it like any other appointment you can't miss!

Use your weekends. Take advantage of the fact that you only need 3 days per week to put together an effective, results-producing workout. Why not to use weekends for doing some of it? Often our schedules are more flexible on weekends. Get up a bit earlier, do some exercises and then treat yourself to your favourite coffee and a nice breakfast... What is also means is that when the hectic weekdays roll back around, you will only be responsible for exercises only 1-2 days during the work week.

Mix socializing with exercising. Do you normally spend time with your family or friends by going to dinner, watching sports on TV or going to movies? Make your social time more active by planning events that get all of you moving. Go for a family hike on a beautiful Saturday morning, go for a little walk with your colleagues at lunchtime or meet with friends to go for a bike ride (stopping at pubs on the way of course!). There are so many options for squeezing more activity into your social calendar!

Challenge of the month - try the tips above to fit fitness into your busy schedule.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

When I was a child of ten my father was sent to Canada by the company he was working for. He worked in Montreal for six months before returning home to gather mum, me and my older sister Janet to take us to live in Montreal. We travelled first class on The Empress of France with a journey of a week or so, on board ship. My grandmother had made my sister and I pretty matching dresses before we left for our new life in Canada.

One of my vivid memories of the journey was going to the restaurant in our pretty dresses with our red Clarks sandals and matching red handbags. We felt very grown up. On the table was a dish of black olives. My sister and I had never had an olive before, so when we asked our father if we could have a "grape", with a twinkle in his eye, he said yes. You can imagine our surprise and horror at biting into this bitter fruit! Well, naturally, as well brought up children, we discreetly removed the offending olive from our mouths and I remember putting mine into my handkerchief and then into my little red handbag. I have since enjoyed eating olives but they always remind me of this incident.

During part of the voyage, the weather was stormy and quite a number of passengers were sea sick. I found out that I was a good sailor so did not take to my bed like my mother and sister. My father and I still ate well and I remember having my first taste of smoked salmon!

JUDY SCOTT, THE ART OF SUGAR CRAFT.

Bremhill

As a child Judy was always fascinated with her mum's everyday baking for the family, always helping where she could. As her culinary talents grew so did her interest in creating special occasion cakes which carried on after she married and provided baking for her own family. With Judy's natural ability for creativity a friend persuaded her to make a special wedding cake. That was back in 1981 and since then she has created many beautifully decorated wedding cakes for happy couples who frequently describe them as 'works of art'.

The decoration is made from fondant icing which is coloured, cut and sculpted painstakingly by hand to create the theme elements of the decoration, be it a boat, booties, or entwined flowers.

The most difficult? Honeysuckle, because of the thin twisting stems. The biggest cake? One which weighed over 50lbs and took two men to lift it! The longest to make? A marathon of 144 hours. The most enjoyable? Judy says it was the christening cake for her first grandchild.

Whilst making her cakes and decoration she listens to classical choral music which is not surprising as she sings with the Calne Choral Society and the church choir. Judy says she finds the whole process fulfilling and quietly comforting but admits she is somewhat relieved when a cake with very delicate decoration is finally delivered!

THE SKY AT NIGHT - JUNE 2017

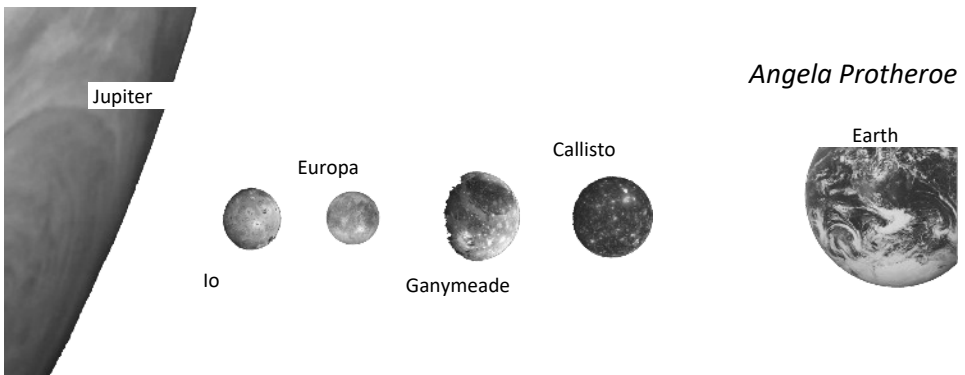

July is probably my favourite month of the year - with long hot sunny days (well if we are lucky), and clear night skies (well again, if we are lucky!) it is the perfect time to stop, look up, and marvel at the delights our night sky has to offer.

So we will start this month's review with our moon. "La Luna" will be at its fullest on the 9th July. The moon will be on the opposite side of the earth as the sun and its face will be fully illuminated. This moon is known as the full Hay Moon, for obvious reasons. On the 23rd July, the moon will be located on the same side of the earth as the sun. This is known as a new moon and it will not be visible in the night sky. We are blessed with little light pollution around our villages.

We will see the peak of the Delta Aquarids meteor shower. This is an annual meteor shower which can be seen between the 12th July to the 23rd August but it 'peaks' this year on the 29/30 July. This shower will produce up to 20 meteors an hour, and is produced by debris left behind by comets Marsden and Kracht. The crescent moon on the 29/30 July will set by midnight, leaving conditions perfect to watch meteors blazing across the heavens.

Jupiter remains very bright in the evening sky, setting towards midnight. If you have a decent set of binoculars you should be able to make out its cloud bands, and most especially the 'Great Red Spot' which is believed to be the caused by a storm on Jupiter that has lasted for 180 years. Jupiter's has four main moons, called 'Io, Europa, Ganymeade and Callisto.

July is also the best time to view Mercury, it will be at its highest point above the horizon. Just look for a solid blue planet low in the western sky just after sunset.

SMALL THOUGHTS OF A LARGE CLERGYMAN

Choosing the hymns for a Sunday Service is a great privilege - and for me a great pleasure! The hymn book that we use is the "Complete Anglican Hymns Old and New". Within it, there are a myriad of delights, nearly a thousand hymns arranged both numerically and alphabetically, virtually every hymn that we use in our Sunday worship. There is a Music Edition too, for the benefit of choirs and organists and anyone else who can read music (not one of my skills).

I have a loud voice! Very useful for calling out messages in a crowded, noisy room. Particularly good for calling out winning numbers in a raffle. So it has its uses. Although somewhat off-key at times, this voice loves to sing, not just hymns but popular tunes as well. Can't stop it! Judy suffers and the dog runs for cover! Luckily for the congregation, my vocal efforts have to be a little more directed, a little more controlled! But that's OK, because I love hymns, both ancient and modern!

We are lucky to have the services of first class organists to accompany our hymn singing. Very important - they don't have to rely on whoever is leading the service! Christians have instinctively used song for praise and worship. So it's good that we have so many hymns to choose from with which to sing the praise of our maker. In addition, scientific research has recently shown that singing is good for us physically, mentally and spiritually. That applies, of course, to all types of singing, not just the contents of the "Complete Anglican"!

Join a choir or sing along with the radio or a CD but best of all come and sing a hymn with us in church on Sunday. It's good for your health and good your soul!

*God Bless You.

POEM

I guess a song is a sort of poem. Recent events made me think there is some wisdom here, both for us as individuals and for the world in general.

This was a song made famous by Nat King Cole in the 50's.

NATURE BOY

by Eden Ahbez.

There was a boy
A very strange enchanted boy
They say he wandered very far, very far
Over land and sea
A little shy and sad of eye
But very wise was he

And then one day
A magic day he passed my way
And while we spoke of many things
Fools and kings
This he said to me:

The greatest thing you'll ever learn
Is just to love and be loved in return

I was recently in Cornwall and saw a Cornish Crabber with its rusty coloured sails while I was looking at the sunset. Hence another song made famous by Nat King Cole - Red Sails in the Sunset by Kennedy, Jimmy Grosz and Wilhelm. Perhaps for another time.
