Calne Literary Institution

The quarterly meeting of the institution was held on Tuesday evening. Besides the usual business, the secretary, Mr. John Chappell, asked the committee, to relieve him of the duties of the office at the half yearly general meeting, held at the end of the present month, as in taking the office he meant only to hold it so long as to show that voluntary support and free usage are practicable. The Free Library now numbers 2042 vols, nearly 800 vols. Having been added since the institution has been open to the public. Wiltshire Independent 9 July 1874.
