

Death of King George V

A service at the Hindon Parish Church was conducted by the Vicar (Ven. Archdeacon Hogbin). The large congregation included Captain Chamberlain, Mrs. Chamberlain and Miss Chamberlain and all their staff from Chicklade House, Mr. R. Pile of Chicklade Farm, Miss Pringle and Miss Jackson. Many members of the British Legion, the Women's Section, Women's Institute, Girl Guides (under their Captain, Miss Allen), and Brownies (under Miss D. M. Mills). School children were marshalled to the church by their schoolmaster (Mr. R. A. J. Pyart) and Miss Ford. The "Dead March" in Saul was played by Mr. D. Pitman (church organist). The ringers gave touches half muffled.

There was a further service in the evening, when Mr. L. Davis read the Lesson.
