Devizes

A BOROUGH and corporation town, beautifully seated on an eminence, and consequently commands views of the surrounding county, which are equally fertile and romantic; it is 88 miles from London, and boasts one of the best pitching corn markets in the kingdom, which is held on Thursday, in the Market-place, a large convenient area, about the centre of the town, where is a stone monument, raised at the expense of Lord Sidmouth, as a grateful memento of the kindness and honour he has received at the hands of the corporation. The town is well built, and contains many very excellent erections. Its municipal government is vested in a mayor, recorder, assisted by another magistrate, appointed for the borough. It contains two churches, both are very neat and respectable structure; besides which there are places of worship for dissenters. There is also a very convenient town-hall, a bridewell, and, about a quarter of a mile from the town, on the Bath road, stands a house of correction, a neat and rather an elegant building, of freestone, and commands a rich and extensive view of the vale before it. Here are also two charity schools, one of which was erected in 1819, (for the girls), by John Pearse, Esq. This town has a communication by water with London, Bath and Bristol; and holds the following fairs, viz. February 13th, April 20th, Holy Thursday, July 5th, October 2nd and 20th. It is represented in parliament by J. Pearce and J. Grimstone Estcourt, Esqrs.; is divided into two parishes, and contains according to the last census 4,208 inhabitants.
