

Celebrations

Charlton All Saints

Celebrations After the Defeat of Napoleon

On Wednesday last, in commemoration of the peace, nearly 300 poor persons were regaled with plenty of good English fare and strong beer, at Charlton, near this city. After the repast rural sports commenced, which concluded with a representation of the destruction of the tyrant Bonaparte, when the company departed highly gratified with their entertainment.

Salisbury and Winchester Journal, Monday, 18 July 1814