Durnford

DURNFORD is a parish and village, pleasantly situated in the vale of Avon, on the east side of the river, 4 miles east-by-north from Porton station on the main line of the London & South Western railway, 2½ miles south from Amesbury, 6 miles north from Salisbury, in the Southern division of the county, hundred and union of Amesbury, petty sessional division of Salisbury and Amesbury, Salisbury county court district, rural deanery of Amesbury (Amesbury portion), archdeaconry of Sarum, and diocese of Salisbury. The church of St Andrew is an ancient edifice of flint and stone, in the Norman and Early English styles, consisting of chancel, nave, north and south porches, and an embattled western tower, containing 5 bells; the chancel arch, porch and doorways and font are Norman: at the east end are two aumbries, and in the chancel, attached by a chain to an ancient reading desk, is a copy of "A defense of the Apologie of the Church of England, by John Jewel, Bishop of Sarisburie, printed in Fleete streate 15th September, 1571"; the pulpit, of carved oak, is dated 1619: there are some remains of ancient stained glass in the nave, and a memorial window the late Walter Flower esq, for 16 years, master of the Netton harriers: in the chancel is a brass to Edward and Mary Young ob.1607, and their six sons and eight daughters: in 1883, the church was renovated, and the open seats and pulpit restored at the sole expense of the late Mr Thomas Staples of Alderbury; there are sittings for 150 persons. The register dates from 1574. The living is a vicarage, gross yearly value £300, including 30 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Salisbury, and held since 1849 by the Rev. John Newton Hinxman M.A. of Trinity College, Oxford. Durnford was a Roman settlement. Ogbury camp is close by, and there are many barrows. Durnford Manor House, belonging to John Pinckney esq. is situated here. The Earl of Malmesbury is lord of the manor of Great Durnford. James Swayne esq. of Wilton, Edward Hinxman esq. of Little Durnford, and Thomas Staples esq. of Alderbury are the chief landowners. The soil is light and chalky; sub-soil, chalk. The chief crops are wheat, barley and oats. The area is 3,729 acres of land, and 29 of water, rateable value £2,214: in 1881, the population was 449.

At Little Durnford, 3 miles north from Salisbury, is the mansion and estate of Edward Hinxman Esq. D.L., J.P.

NETTON is a hamlet, 1 mile south, where there is a Wesleyan chapel; Salterton hamlet, (or Salteton), 2 south, Newton hamlet, 2½ miles south.
