

Durrington

DURRINGTON CEMETERY IS GIVEN A MAKEOVER

In memory of those who fell in the Great War, Durrington Town Council have planted a new avenue of Silver Birch trees that have replaced the old cypresses which were old and decayed. The trees are young but in time will become an impressive approach to this renowned cemetery. This is part of a project which the Local Wiltshire Council Area Board supported and the village are looking forward to the construction of the new path that will connect the cemetery with the village.

(The Stonehenge Trader – January 2015 - Issue 126)