Durrington

Durrington is a parish and village on the river Avon, 1 mile north-west from Bulford station and 2 north from Amesbury station on the London and South Western railway, and 10 north from Salisbury, in the Salisbury division of the county, Amesbury hundred and union, petty sessional division of Salisbury and Amesbury, Salisbury county court district, rural deanery of Amesbury (Amesbury portion), archdeaconry of Sarum and diocese of Salisbury.

The church of All Saints is a building of flint and stone, consisting of chancel, nave of three bays, aisles, and western tower with pinnacles, containing a clock and 5 bells: the south aisle is Norman; the church was restored in 1851, with the exception of the tower, which is Perpendicular; the remainder is in the Early English style; a Norman arcade has been retained: there are four memorial windows to the Rev R. Webb, M.A. a former rector, and three others are also stained: in the chancel is a canopied double piscina with credence over, and in the south aisle is a piscina: the pulpit, choir stalls and many benches are of ancient carved oak: there are 300 sittings. The register dates from the year 1591. The living is a perpetual curacy, net yearly value about £350, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of Winchester, and held since 1911 by the Rev. Auriol Giffard Ruddle, Theol. Assoc. of King's College, London. Here is a Congregational chapel, seating 150. Allen's charity of 20s. yearly, is derived from a rent-charge left in 1714 by Thomas Allen, of this parish: Alt's charity, nominally of 12s. yearly, is distributed to the oldest poor communicants at the church.

On the Downs are many barrows, among which is Knighton Long Barrow. To the south is the great British station called Durrington Walls.

The manor is held by the Warden and Fellows of Winchester College, and the East End manor by Admiral Sir Richard Poore bart. K.C.B., C. V. O. The principal landowners are Admiral Sir R. Poore bart. K.C.B., C. V. O., Harry Powney esq. H.M. War Office and Winchester College.

The soil is light and chalky; subsoil, chalk. The chief crops are wheat, barley, oats, potatoes, hay and pasture; the area is 2,692 acres of land and 10 of water; rateable value £6,378; population in 1911, 897.
