

Revetment Wall with Bread Stones in the Churchyard, East of St. Giles Church

Revetment wall with inserted bread stones. Probably C18, stones dated from 1800 to 1984. Limestone rubble stone wall about 1.7 metres high and about 7 metres long running from north-east corner of churchyard to east steps. Inserted stone tablets record price of bread per gallon in different years, two older stones to right with illegible inscriptions. Included for unusual historical interest.
