

The Night Coach. [After Rowlandson.]

ACCIDENTS

1868

On Wednesday a woman named Mullins was admitted into Salisbury Infirmary, suffering from a wound on the left arm which was bleeding considerably, and which had been caused by a reap hook she had in her arm, slipping while picking up some fire wood. Salisbury Times & South Wilts Gazette, 25 July 1868