

Coroner's Inquests Manningford Abbots

Maria Newman – 1870

MANNINGFORD ABBOTS

SUFFOCATION OF AN AGED WOMAN. An inquest was held by Mr. Sylvester, coroner, on the body of Maria Newman, aged 60. The deceased lived alone, and on Sunday morning, as she did not make her appearance as usual, a neighbour got into the house through the window, and found her lying dead on her face upon a heap of straw. She was subject to epileptic fits, and it is supposed she had had an attack, and falling upon the straw, was suffocated. Verdict, "Accidental death."
