

Palm House, Market Lavington, where Mr Willett, set up the Retreat

RETREAT FOR LUNATICS, LAVINGTON, WILTS.

THIS Establishment comprises every kind of advantage that can be conducive to the health and comfort of those afflicted persons who need such a place of refuge. The situation is pleasant, the air salubrious, and the grounds extensive. It is the constant aim of the proprietors to soothe and to heal the wounded spirit; and connected with the strictest attention to domestic comfort, the patients have the advantage of the professional skill of Mr. Box, surgeon, and of Dr. Headly, physician to the Institution.

This Asylum, though upon a smaller scale may, without boasting, promise to the Public similar advantages to those which are enjoyed at the justly celebrated Retreat at York.-- Further information may be obtained by applying to Mr. and Mrs. Willett, at the Retreat; and to Mr. Fowler, surgeon, Devizes.
