

Importation of Seed Potatoes

Messrs. Jupe and Son, with their usual thoughtful kindness, have imported a large quantity of French potatoes, so as to bring within the reach of their numerous workpeople who have gardens the advantages which a change of seed is known to secure.

Western Gazette 23 February 1872

OPC Note:

Messrs Charles Jupe and Son, were the owners of a silk factory in Mere, employing a large number of women, as well as men.