

The Family Tree Structure

Trunk	This is You and the tree is centred around you and is the starting point for all research.
Roots	These are you're your children and their families
Branches	These are your ancestors
Twigs	These are the people who have married into your family and their families
Leaves	These are all the snippets of information you add to your tree
Bark	This is the cosmetics of your tree - the way you structure your research
Sap	This is all the gossip and all the possibilities open to you.
Spread	This is the amount of time you wish to spend tracing your history.
Fallen leaves	These are all the snippets you have discarded on your journey.
Mistletoe	This is all those people who ask you for you information but contribute nothing