

In The News

Sutton Mandeville

A lad belonging to this village, named Henry Yates, fell down while in charge of a waggon and two horses belonging to Mr Coombs; the wheel of the vehicle passed over his left arm, and caused a compound fracture of the elbow. He was taken to the Salisbury Infirmary, where he received the necessary treatment.

(Salisbury and Winchester Journal – Saturday 6 February, 1869)