

Church News

Upton Lovell

The parish Church of Upton Lovell, which was erected in the year 1663, having fallen into a dilapidated state, has recently undergone very extensive and material alterations. Their completion is deferred till the early part of the next summer; but it is expected that the church will be re-opened for Divine Service on Christmas-day next, such the wish of the amiable and highly-esteemed pastor and Rector, the Rev. J. Vaughan.

(Salisbury and Winchester Journal – Monday 22 December, 1834)