

ACCIDENTS 1800-1899

1868

[At Salisbury] On Saturday afternoon an elderly man, named William Cannings, of Hurdcott, was loading a wagon with straw, which belonged to Mr. Read, and owing to the horses going on he was thrown to the ground and fractured his ribs. He was conveyed to the Salisbury Infirmary, where he received immediate attention. Salisbury Times & South Wilts Gazette, 25 July 1868
