

Death of Village Blacksmith

Stephen Williams, the village blacksmith, who died suddenly from failure of the heart's action, accelerated by the extreme cold, on Monday, December 20, was buried on the following Thursday, by the Rev. T. E. Holt.

No inquest was held, it not being considered necessary.

Salisbury Times, Friday, 1 January 1892